3. EXEMPTION FROM LIABILITY

Digital Insurance Agenda Europe is exempt from any type of liability arising from the information published on its website, providing that this information has been handled or introduced by a third party.

4. USE OF COOKIES

This website uses cookies and other similar technologies, such as local shared objects, flash cookies and pixels. Cookies are used to store and retrieve information about visitors of our website as well as to ensure that the website operates correctly.

More information on the use of cookies by Digital Insurance Agenda Europe can be found in the Cookie Policy on the website.

5. LINKS POLICY

The website may redirect users to content from third-party websites. Given that Digital Insurance Agenda Europe cannot always control the contents added by third parties to their respective websites, it does not accept liability of any type with regard to the said contents.

Digital Insurance Agenda Europe cannot be held responsible for information and content stored in areas including but not limited to forums, chats, blog generators, comments, social networks and any other median that allows third parties to publish content independently on the website of Digital Insurance Agenda Europe. However, the rights of third parties or morality and public order are at the disposal of all users, authorities and security forces, collaborating actively in the removal or blocking, as appropriate, of all contents that may affect or contravene national or international legislation.

Users believing that any content on this website may be liable to being described as such are requested to notify the administrator of the website immediately.

This website has been reviewed and tested to work properly. Theoretically, its correct operation can be guaranteed 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. However, Digital Insurance Agenda Europe cannot rule out the possibility of programming errors, or the occurrence of causes of force majeure, natural disasters, strikes or similar circumstances that make it impossible to access the website.

6. IP ADDRESSES

The website's servers can automatically identify the IP address and domain name used by the user. An IP address is a number automatically assigned to a computer when it connects to the Internet. All this information is recorded in a duly registered server activity file that enables the subsequent processing of the data in order to obtain measurements of an exclusively statistical nature that provide information on the number of page printouts, the number of visits made to web servers, the order of visits, the access point, etc. An IP address can be regarded as personal data. Please refer to the Privacy Policy on the website for more information on the use of personal data by Digital Insurance Agenda Europe.

7. APPLICABLE LAW AND JURISDICTION

Any and all disputes arising out or in connection with this website shall be exclusively governed by and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the Netherlands. Any and all disputes arising out of or in connection with this website will be resolved by the competent court in Utrecht, the Netherlands.
